Scarsdale Security Moves 9 Big Steps Higher

Scarsdale, New York (May 16, 2005) –

Based in Scarsdale, New York for more than 20 years and with customers throughout 48 states, Scarsdale Security Systems Inc. has grown to become one of the nation's top security companies.

The company is pleased to announce is has moved up to number 61 in the widely watched annual Top 100 ranking by SDM Magazine.

"We're proud to have made so much progress this past year", said David Raizen, Scarsdale Security's founder and president, "and all of the credit goes to everyone here who has worked so hard to make it happen." Raizen went on to say. "No one handed us this on a plate. Every bit of it was hard earned by real people rolling up their sleeves and pitching in when called on to do their part. Congratulations to everyone!"

Ranked one of the top providers to retail stores and financial institutions nationwide, Scarsdale Security counts a number of prestigious firms as their loyal clients, including Polo Ralph Lauren, Bealls Department Stores, Abercrombie and Fitch, Price Waterhouse Coopers, Nautica, Burberry, Coach and The North Face, to name a few.

"We've got some great people working to deliver that personal service which our customers love", said Frank Baker, the company's Sales and Marketing Manager. "Most of our growth in 2004 came from referrals which means we're doing it right and that's a great compliment to have."

The 2005 SDM 100 ranks U.S. companies that provide electronic security systems and services to both residential and non-residential customers. The ranking is based on the reported or estimated 2004 total revenues from more than 10,000 individual industry firms. Companies are also ranked separately by their total residential sales (53rd), total non-residential sales (30th) and total recurring revenues (61st). The company has been moving up the list in past years and was previously ranked 70th in total revenue.

The company uses its patented technology and a number of other technically unique solutions to help provide a lower cost alternative to customer owned private brand alarm networks previously installed by dominant industry firms which had left customers feeling helplessly chained to their old provider. As their contracts with other companies expire, clients come to depend on Scarsdale Security to help them adapt, convert or otherwise update their existing systems, often without a complete replacement, sometimes saving tens of thousands of dollars when compared to other alternatives.
