Scarsdale Security Updates WebAccess to Delight Retail Firms

Scarsdale, New York (June 21, 2005) –

Based in Scarsdale, New York for more than 20 years and with customers throughout 48 states, Scarsdale Security Systems Inc. has grown to become one of the nation's top security companies.

The company is pleased to announce an update to their popular WebAccess Service that provides client information direct to their desktop and up to the minute information on events and service activities occurring at each of their locations, nationwide.

"WebAccess has helped a number of our customers, especially retail stores with hundreds of locations, to stay informed about what is happening across their entire network," says Tom Bavaro, Vice President and National Monitoring Center Manager for Scarsdale Security, "every detail is on-line and updated rapidly." Tom went on to say. "WebAccess, together with our own 24/7 monitoring team, is one reason why large customers, especially retail stores, come straight to us."

Ranked one of the top providers to retail stores and financial institutions nationwide, Scarsdale Security counts a number of prestigious firms as their loyal clients, including Polo Ralph Lauren, Beall's Department Stores and Outlets, Abercrombie and Fitch, Price Waterhouse Coopers, Nautica, Burberry, Coach and The North Face, to name a few.

The recent improvements to WebAccess provide for even faster access to events, better graphics and easier sorting of events, all of which helps clients locate the information they need quickly.

"WebAccess is a great addition, especially for our rapidly growing base of clients that have also chosen to have us monitor all their locations via their data network", said Frank Baker, the company's Sales and Marketing Manager. "Monitoring via network saves clients money in reduced phone line costs, improves the speed of signaling and increases our supervision of their system. Put together with WebAccess, our unique monitoring by data network has become the system of choice for many large retail clients".

The company uses its patented technology and a number of other technically unique solutions to help provide a lower cost alternative to customer owned private brand alarm systems previously installed by dominant industry firms which had left customers feeling helplessly chained to their old provider. As their contracts with other companies expire, clients come to depend on Scarsdale Security to help them adapt, convert or otherwise update their existing systems, often without a complete replacement, sometimes saving tens of thousands of dollars.

Scarsdale Security will be exhibiting at the National Retail Federation Loss Prevention Council Meeting in San Diego, June 27 – 29, 2005 in Booth 845.
